

...Sometimes...
.... I look out at everything
growing so wild
and faithfully beneath
the sky
and wonder
why are we the one terrible
part of creation privileged
to refuse our flowering....

David Whyte, from “The Sun”

Storytelling in small groups or personal reflection. One by one, each person shares their answer to the first prompt below. Then go to next question and so forth. A person can pass.

- 1. Tell of an experience when you looked “out at everything growing so wild and faithfully beneath the sky.”
- 2. Share a story/experience of being in nature.
(i.e. walking, wandering, camping, hiking, skiing, swimming, in the rain, etc.)
- 3. Share about what it means to you, or how it feels, when you read, “and wonder why are we the one terrible part of creation privileged to refuse our flowering.”
